MOOD: 😊 hopeful

MUSIC: Alice Cooper - Cold Ethyl

Especially when he's singing about necrophilia.

Sunday, berloody Sunday. (<https://www.livejournal.com/away?to=http%3A/www.fitday.com/webfit/publicjournals.html%3FOwner%3Dcvillette%26Year%3D2007%26Month%3D9%26Day%3D28>)

And over too soon, also.

Hey there. Sorry about the drama. It was... it was an emotional decision, and I didn't handle it well. So yeah, I'm sorry.

Poppets. Puppets. Poppet puppets.
Scary.

I had a good 'un. Tricia and I packed a deli picnic and did Civil War tourism. She told me all about the economic and industrial roots of the North-South divide, and I told her about the state of battlefield medicine. Then we sat in the graveyard in Harper's Ferry and ate hummus and olives and brie and French bread.

Between that and talking over the Stanford stroke thing with you on Thursday, I feel so goddamn much better. Thank you for being, you know, a very high-quality friend.

Geeks in love. *g* You make me a little envious sometimes, Daph. You got a good one.

(Not that I begrudge it!)

And thank you. I don't know if I really rank as high-quality, but you deserve the best.

Also, I want to hear about the state of Civil War battlefield medicine sometime. Did you know Nevada is called the "Battle-Born State" because it was admitted to the Union in large part due to the Civil War?

No, tell! What was at issue? I can wow Trish with my secondhand brilliance.

I know the westernmost battle was Glorieta Pass in New Mexico, but that there were skirmishes (which are called Battle in their names, and okay, why not?) in Arizona and California. (I mean, how do you graduate from a skirmish to a battle? Isn't the distinction a little, you know, insane? Huh--I could ask Mom. Bet she knows.)

As a mining state, it was believed that Nevada would continue to be more sympathetic to the industrialized north. Nevada became the 34th state of the union on the last day of October in 1864, just before the presidential election, to help insure Abraham Lincoln's re-election and Republican domination of the House and Senate.

Tah dah.

Yeah, I used to get it off from school every year for Nevada Day, formerly Admission Day. You wanna believe I freaked out when I realized kids in other states don't get Halloween off? How unfair! It's the total kid holiday!

They changed it in 2003, to the last Friday in October.

Three day weekend my left tit.

Lemme get this straight.

U got ur birthday off from school every year?

No wonder u got beat up.

Hah! I'd have brought him chocolate. Like an offering to the gods. A snow day with costumes!

Dec. 23. I can count the unsnowed-in birthdays I had in school on one hand.

then again, I live in lowegia, the southernmost unofficial province of The Great White North. Come for the education, flee from the animals as soon as you graduate. (Vet Med majors are exempt from this requirement.)o

Men have tits too....

Also bosoms, and breasts.

And breast cancer, actually.

But not boobs. Or hooters. Or a balcony you could do Shakespeare from.

And thank God for small mercies, too.

For one thing, I'd look silly.
